

Tempo Starting To Pick Up In Advance Of Ohio's Primary

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With the Ohio primary only six weeks away the campaign tempo is beginning to pick up.
In Medina, Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor told a group of hometown friends that political issues demanding immediate action can be solved only by a "person of courage who is willing to serve all the people of Ohio."
The former Medina mayor also recommended establishment of a little Hoover Commission to "streamline and modernize the state government."
In referring to his primary contest with Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, Brown said: "This is a fight where they don't pay any money for second place. You are either in or you're out."
In Washington, Michael V. DiSalle said that if an election were held tomorrow Eisenhower would lose Ohio.
DiSalle, who seeks the Democratic nomination for governor, based his prediction on what he termed considerable dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower administration among farmers.
DiSalle also predicted that Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche would pile up a 100,000 vote victory over Sen. George Bender (R-Ohio) in their race for the latter's Senate seat.

Stewart Faces Trial; 'Sane' Ruling Given
18-Year-Old Youth Accused Of Attacking Local Elderly Women
Clifford Stewart, 18, of Circleville, now faces trial on accusations of attacking or trying to attack elderly women. He has been judged "sane" at Lima State Hospital.

Stewart, who was indicated on the above charges Feb. 1, and who later pleaded innocent during arraignment, was returned Monday to Pickaway County jail after a 30-day observation period at the hospital.
Unless Stewart's attorney, Jesse Dickinson of Columbus, changes the plea, Stewart will have to go on trial. No trial date has yet been set.
The accused high school student was taken to the state hospital last month by Pickaway County Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff on a court order made at the request of Dickinson. He was returned Monday by Sheriff Deputy Walter Richards.

THE SPECIFIC charges for which Stewart faces trial action are: rape, breaking and entering of an inhabited dwelling in the night season with intent to commit a felony, and assault with intent to rape.
Following what Circleville police said was an attempted break-in on an E. Main St. home, one evening last January, Stewart was spotted by police on E. Union St. He was picked up and charges were lodged against him.

Earlier that same evening, police had responded to a call by a woman resident who said someone was trying to open her door.
Stewart allegedly signed a confession following police interrogation but entered a plea of innocent at arraignment hearings on Feb. 6.
He is being held on $50,000 bond set by Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff.

Huckster's Fancy Hosiery Declined By Brides-To-Be
DETROIT (AP)—Margaret Truman and Grace Kelly say there is no truth in the report of California hosiery maker that they will wear special wedding hose he had made for them.
Willis De Mond said in Detroit yesterday he had made three $650 pair of diamond-flecked stockings for Miss Truman and some pearl-trimmed $150-a-pair hose for Miss Kelly.
Miss Truman, daughter of former President Truman, said in New York there was "no truth" in the statement.
Miss Kelly, the movie actress, said she had received no such stockings.
Miss Truman is to marry newsman Clifford Daniel April 21. Miss Kelly is to marry Prince Rainier III of Monaco April 18.

Pulverized Bone Aid To Surgeons
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—"Take a food blender and grind up a bone."
Not for housewives but for surgeons.

Two researchers at the Indiana University medical school, Drs. G. J. Garceau and C. F. Gregory, report their animal studies show why bone transplants are most effective when the bone to be grafted is pulverized.
Using dyes injected into the blood streams of animals, the research team found that a new blood supply is set up most quickly in the graft area when pulverized bone is used. The graft bone, itself, serves chiefly as support while new bone forms.

Ike Due To Tell U. S. Policy To Mexico, Canada Chiefs

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Canadian and Mexican leaders looked to President Eisenhower today for a full exposition of U. S. world policies, including a discussion of the war-threatened Middle East.
Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles were understood to have prepared such a report for the only scheduled business session of the good neighbor conference which opened here last night.
Eisenhower took part in the informal round of talks apparently not aware that three persons were stricken last week after drinking ginger ale aboard the private railroad car in which he traveled from Washington to White Sulphur Springs Sunday night.
Both the U. S. Secret Service, which guards the President, and the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad were investigating the affair.
"We don't think there has been any plot aimed at the President," said Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman, "but we do want to find out all there is to know about the situation."
ASIDE FROM today's business session, the conference schedule included a luncheon meeting and a closing dinner tonight with Eisenhower playing host to Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines.
The North American Big Three opened their unprecedented meeting with a dinner last night. Ruiz Cortines sat on the President's right; St. Laurent, at his left. Their foreign ministers and other advisers were ranged around the long table.
The talk was entirely informal and the atmosphere cordial.
Although no formal toasts were proposed, Eisenhower raised his wine glass at one point and declared his "hope and desire for health, happiness and friendship among us."
Ruiz Cortines toasted the "continuation of the greatest cordiality between us," then broadened his sentiments to cover the "American continent."
Lester B. Pearson, Canada's minister for external affairs, spoke of continued friendly relations of the three countries and toasted "to the United States, surrounded by the oceans and by Mexico and Canada."

Darby Youth Severely Bitten By Stray Dog

Fourteen stitches were required Monday to close a wound inflicted on a three-year-old Darby Township child as a result of a dog bite. The incident occurred in Derby.
The child, Jack Allen Nance, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nance was treated by a Grove City physician following the bite under the left eye at 3 p. m. Monday.
According to Deputy Sheriff Carl White's report, the stray dog bit the child after the animal was fed by Ernest Goldsberry.
The dog, because it was a stray, was picked up by Pickaway County Dog Warden Ralph Wallace and taken to the county kennels where it is to be observed for 10 days.
DURING THIS PERIOD, the dog will be studied and if it doesn't appear "right", Wallace explained, it will be destroyed and the carcass examined to determine whether the dog had rabies.
If the examination reveals signs of rabies, the child will be given inoculations.

Draft Of Truman Claimed Possible

Democrat Dark Horse Talk Up; Symington, Harriman Get Boosts

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times today reported the possibility of a move to draft former President Harry Truman for the Democratic presidential nomination.
A Washington dispatch to the Times said the Stevenson-Kefauver fight has led to "genuine talk of possible dark horses."
"Indeed," the story said, "there is now serious consideration, mostly in Northern Democratic quarters, but among some Southern professionals as well, of the possibility of attempting in certain eventualities to draft former President Truman."
Meanwhile, Sen. Stuart Symington and Gov. Averell Harriman gained new support as possible candidates.
Neither is now an active candidate. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who is, followed a slightly less strenuous campaign trail yesterday in California, where he is campaigning for votes in the June 5 primary.

HE WILL CLASH there with the other currently active candidate, Adlai Stevenson, the party's unsuccessful standard bearer in 1952. Kefauver won their first direct test, in Minnesota a week ago.
The boost for Symington, a Missourian, came in the form of an endorsement by that state's Democratic committee. Adopted unanimously, the resolution made no reference to Symington as a "favorite son." The resolution is subject to approval by the Democratic state convention.
Harriman, governor of New York, was boosted by Frank E. McKinney of Indianapolis, a former chairman of the Democratic National Committee during the Truman administration.

"If and when he announces," McKinney said, "he will find that he has quite a militant group backing him in the states west of the Alleghenies."
Harriman, vacationing at Hobe Sound, Fla., declined comment.
An aide to the New York governor said at Albany there has been no change in Harriman's status as a "not active" candidate. Harriman had been quoted Saturday as saying he is "available" for the nomination, but the spokesman said the governor denied using the word "available."
McKinney said he had presided at a March 4 meeting in Denver, at which people from some 14 states were represented.

"IT WAS A conference solely in the interests of Gov. Harriman," McKinney said. "Now, there has been talk in the papers that there was somewhat tied up with stopping Stevenson in Minnesota. That is not true."
McKinney said also that Truman, a personal friend, asked him several weeks ago to "spike any movement for me for President." He quoted Truman as saying he would not be a candidate under any circumstances.
In Washington, Symington said, "I am not a candidate," and expressed himself as "humbly grateful for the confidence expressed in me" by the Missouri Democratic Committee.

Pennsy Railroad Strike Called Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Mediation Service said today the Transport Workers Union (TWU) has postponed a strike against the Pennsylvania Railroad which had been set to begin at midnight tonight.
The walkout was put off indefinitely, the service said, pending mediation talks which will begin tomorrow in Philadelphia. George S. Macswan, government mediator, was assigned to handle the negotiations between the union and the railroad.
The union last Thursday called the strike by 25,000 members in a dispute over layoff of maintenance workers. Andrew J. Kaelin, TWU vice president, said the company was insisting on furloughing employees throughout the Pennsylvania system between New York and Chicago.

House-Senate Group Also OKs 'Dual Parity'

Congress Conference Goes Against Program By Eisenhower, Benson

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee agreed today on a one-year extension of high, rigid mandatory price supports on basic crops.
The group also accepted a "dual parity" method for using the higher of two price support formulas.
Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said these two price boosting provisions were agreed upon as part of the controversial election-year farm bill being worked out by a Senate-House compromise group.
Both of these provisions have been publicly opposed by both President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson. The House had voted the rigid support at 90 per cent of parity last year.
The Senate conferees accepted that figure today.
Ellender reported that the conferees also agreed to "knock out all limits" on total price support and soil bank payments. Top limits on such payments had been put in by the Senate.
He predicted that the group later would approve formally the $1.2 billion in annual soil bank payments asked by the administration to bolster sagging farm income.

THE CONFERENCE action came on the heels of a message from Secretary of Agriculture Benson saying each day's delay in congressional enactment of the soil bank program is costing farmers "badly needed income."
Both Ellender and Rep. Cooley (D-NC), his House counterpart, said they believe the Senate and House will act finally on Thursday if a compromise measure is ready by then. Cooley appeared somewhat less optimistic about finishing the bill tomorrow.
Cooley predicted the compromise version would include a one-year program of price supports at a mandatory 90 per cent of parity for wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts. Parity is a standard fixed by law and said (Continued on Page Two)

Senate Vote Near On Electoral Plan

Opponents Confident Old System To Be Retained By Upper House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate plans to vote today on proposals to change the method of electing presidents and vice presidents. Opponents voiced confidence all versions would be beaten.
The principal plan is a two-part compromise which originally had 54 Senate sponsors. Some have since withdrawn support.
This led Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) a leading opponent, to predict it would be defeated along with any variations which are offered.
To be adopted, a constitutional amendment must be approved by two thirds of those voting in the Senate and House, and must be ratified by three fourths of the states.

'Mr. Trotting' Dies At Age 81

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—William H. Cane, 81-year-old head of the Yonkers, N. Y., raceway and promoter of the famous Hambletonian race, died at 9:25 a. m. today in St. Francis Hospital here.
Cane entered the hospital March 13 with a heart and kidney condition.
For a quarter of a century Cane was known affectionately as "Mr. Trotting," and he built up the Hambletonian from a failure at Lexington, Ky., and Syracuse, N. Y., to become the world's most famous trotting race.
Cane took over the sulky derby in 1930, and it is held at his Good Time Park, Goshen, N. Y.

Hermann Field Back In U. S. After Being Polish Prisoner

NEW YORK (AP)—Hermann Field, former Cleveland architect who spent five years as a Polish prisoner, returned on the liner Queen Mary today after an absence of nearly seven years.
He said that his brother, Noel, another principal in the long mystery of the "disappearing Fields," is a "pretty sick man" in Budapest, Hungary.
When asked whether Noel still is a prisoner, Field replied "That's anybody's guess." He said he writes to his brother occasionally to "keep the lines open."
Field, 46, was accompanied by his London-born wife, Kate, and two sons, Hugh, 12, and Allen, 10.
Noel Field, a former U. S. State Department official, and his wife dropped out of sight in May 1949, in Communist Czechoslovakia. Hermann was arrested three months later in Poland while searching for his brother.
The Poles released Hermann in October 1954, after, he said, he spent five years in a cellar as a prisoner of the Polish security police. Noel and his wife, Herta, were freed by the Hungarians a month later, but they decided to stay in Hungary and requested political asylum.
Hermann Field received $50,000 from the Polish government as compensation for his imprisonment, and $1,500 more for medical treatment during convalescence after his release.
"I was never officially charged with anything," said Field, Swiss-born of American parents and a one-time architectural planner for Western Reserve University.
"The more they investigated, the less they found out," he said of Polish officials. He said the State Department, urged by his wife and a sister, Dr. Elsie Doob, a physician of Urbana, Ill., protested but the "Poles claimed they knew nothing about me."
He said the mystery of his whereabouts finally was uncovered when a Polish colonel named Swiatlo defected and informed U. S. authorities he had been instrumental in kidnapping Field.

"COWBOY STAR"

The only Cowboy Star I know is Montana Tex and when he saw this Droodle he thought I was making fun of him and threatened to round up a posse, but I bought him another beer and he changed his mind. In fact, he even swore me in as one of his Deputies and if there's any cattle rustling around West 88th St. in New York I have authority to arrest the guilty parties. He also made me a member of his "Cattlemen's Protective Association" (after I bought another beer), which entitles me to use all the water holes east of Seventh Avenue, and gave me a certificate good for a $5 purchase in any blacksmith shop on Broadway. Sometimes I think Montana Tex is too bighearted for his own good.

Man Charged With Assaulting Young Daughter

Dad Ordered Held For Grand Jurors; Girl 7 Years Old

A 26-year old shoe factory worker from Era was bound over to the grand jury late Monday after pleading innocent to forcibly assaulting his seven-year old daughter. The alleged offense took place last Thursday night in the family's residence.

Floyd Kidwell was brought before Municipal Judge Seng Lamb for the preliminary hearing. Judge Lamb set the bond at $100.00 and Kidwell was taken to the county jail.

Kidwell was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Carl White following a report relayed here by the Mt. Sterling police. The incident was originally reported by an 18-year old baby sitter who cares for the six Kidwell children while the parents work in a Mt. Sterling shoe factory.

The oldest of the six children is eight, the youngest about one.

THE STATUTE under which Kidwell is charged, Section 2905.02 of the Ohio Revised Code, calls for mandatory life imprisonment.

The seven-year old girl is now reportedly in the custody of the Pickaway County Welfare Department.

The next regular session of grand jury is not scheduled to be called until mid-May.

House-Senate Group Also OKs 'Dual Parity'

to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

The Eisenhower administration strongly supports a flexible system in which price supports on these basic crops vary with the size of stocks on hand. Such a system was enacted in 1954. The House bill would scrap it. The Senate version would retain the theory of flexibility, while adding features to restrict it.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), senior GOP senator on the conference group, said he expects the compromise to include 90 per cent supports "for one year or more."

UNDER THE SOIL bank, farmers would be paid to hold some of their land out of production until present farm surpluses are reduced. The House bill, based on a return to high-level fixed price supports for basic crops, contains no such plan, but the House is expected to accept the idea.

Benson had been invited to appear before the House committee today but Cooley canceled the invitation, saying he did not wish to give the secretary opportunity to use the committee as a forum for additional "missionary work."

The House committee is sharply at odds with Benson over his insistence that the flexible price support system be continued.

Conceding Cooley's right to cancel his appearance before the committee, Benson sent copies of his statement to the group.

Benson denied, as some congressmen have argued, that the administration already has authority to set up the soil bank.

"This has been carefully reviewed by our legal staff and the answer is that there are definite legal reasons for the necessity of new legislation. In order that there may be no misunderstanding, I wish to make clear that if Congress had provided the authority this soil bank program would be in operation right now."

Cheesemaking Boosted By Religious Bans

CHARDON (AP)—Religious scruples against modern machinery are one factor in a contemplated Geauga County industrial development, the manufacture of American Swiss cheese.

Dairymen long have sold their milk for delivery to Cleveland and Canton. But health officials in the cities now insist all fluid milk must be cooled to about 50 degrees Fahrenheit before being shipped to dairy plants.

Gaugua's dairymen are opposed to the purchase of costly cooling equipment. Some farmers of the Amish faith frown upon use of modern machinery.

But cheese can be made by time-tested methods without recourse to modern machinery. So the Middlefield Cooperative Swiss Cheese Co. has been organized. More than $7,000 in stock has been pledged.

"It just does not pay a farmer who sells only three or four cans of milk a day to invest large sums in expensive cooling machinery," said Ray Harper of the committee. "This cheese factory will provide dairy farmers of this area with a good steady market."

Small cheese-making plants were located in Geauga and Portage counties up to 1900 when lack of good roads made it difficult to get milk into city markets. These plants closed when roads became better.

St. Joseph's Church Explains Changes In Catholic Liturgy

Very important changes in the Catholic liturgy permitted this week have been called to the attention of members of St. Joseph's Church.

It was explained the changes have a twofold purpose: (1) To restore to Holy Week much of the solemnity which has been lost from having Holy Week services in the early morning; (2) To give workers a better opportunity to attend the solemn functions preceding Easter. Principal changes for Holy Week were given as follows:

HOLY THURSDAY
The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass is to be offered between 5 and 8 o'clock in the evening. The only exception is in Cathedrals where the Bishop is permitted a morning Mass for the blessing of Holy Oils and Chrism. Where the Bishop has offered the morning Mass, he is permitted to offer the Thursday evening Mass as well. The ceremony of washing the feet may take place at the Thursday evening Mass. The customary visits to churches on Holy Thursday will hereafter be made at night.

GOOD FRIDAY
Services must be held between "about" 3 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon. The Mass of the Pre-Sanctified has been changed to restore its original charter of a simple Communion service. For the first time in some centuries the faithful are permitted to receive Holy Communion at this service.

HOLY SATURDAY
The liturgy for the Vigil of Easter remains unchanged, but it must now be celebrated between sunset and midnight. With the Easter Vigil service held in the evening, it makes Holy Saturday a day of mourning for the Crucified Christ. In harmony with that spirit, the entire day is now a fast day.

MASS AT St. Joseph's on Thursday will be at 7 p. m. Men of the parish have been asked to participate in all night adoration of the Holy Eucharist.

On Friday, adoration of the Blessed Sacrament will be from 8 a. m. to noon for women and children. Three-hour Devotions will begin at noon. Communion service will begin at 2 p. m.

On Saturday there will be no morning Mass. An Easter vigil Mass will be at 10:30 p. m. High Mass on Easter Sunday will be at 8 a. m.

County Marks 2nd Road Fatality As Orient Man Dies In Hospital

Pickaway County's second traffic fatality was recorded Monday with the death of an Orient Route 1 man who was critically injured March 11.

Cecil L. Whiteside, 40, the traffic victim, died in Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus where he was taken following a two-vehicle collision in front of his home the night of March 11.

His death was the second in the county as a result of road accidents this year. The first fatality was recorded when Mrs. Thelma Louise Walters, of Whitehall and a former Walnut Township teacher, was pronounced dead on arrival at Berger Hospital Jan. 21 following a crash on Walnut Creek Pk.

At this same time last year, Pickaway County had counted seven traffic fatalities.

WHITESIDE was critically injured when he reportedly made a left turn into his driveway and was struck broadside by an oncoming tractor-trailer. Officers stated he had turned directly into the path of the truck.

The scene of the crash was Route 62, one mile north of Derby and three miles south of the Pickaway-Franklin County line.

A touch of irony surrounded the accident as it was explained that Whiteside had gone to an unnamed destination that evening

U. N. Powers Study Newest U. S. Arms Plan

LONDON (AP)—The U. N. atomic powers today studied the latest in the series of U. S. proposals to reduce the threat of war in the atomic age.

Harold Stassen proposed that nations joining in a disarmament pact should give advance notice if they send armed men outside their borders.

Stassen, President Eisenhower's specialist on disarmament, is meeting with representatives of Russia, Britain, France and Canada as a subcommittee on the U. N. Disarmament Commission.

In short, Stassen's argument was that worldwide publicity on troop movements would rule out surprise attack and thus reduce the danger of war.

Andrei A. Gromyko, a deputy foreign minister and head of the Soviet teams, gave no hint of the Russian reaction.

Previously at the current series of meetings the United States had suggested the setting up of test inspection areas in the United States and Russia, an exchange of technical missions and a 2½ million-man limit to the armed forces of the United States and the Soviet Union.

Tunis Terrorists Slay Two Solons

TUNIS (AP)—Opponents of Tunisia's nationalist government have killed two leaders of the Neo-Destour party since Sunday's constituent Assembly election.

Hussein Bouziane, one of the 98 deputies elected to the Assembly, was killed by a terrorist yesterday. He was head of the Neo-Destour federation in Gafsa and a professor of Arabic culture at Tunis University.

In the Thala district of west central Tunisia, Mohammed Daloud, party leader in this district, was kidnapped yesterday. His body was found today.

U. N. Council Delays Peace Move Action

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A new Arab delaying action today threatened a U. S. plan to send U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld on a Palestine peace mission.

In Damascus, Premier Saïd El Ghazli told the Syrian Parliament his government wants the U. S. proposal shifted from the Security Council to the General Assembly.

Western sources feared the Soviet Union, in line with its recent pro-Arab policy, would support such a Syrian move.

The 11-nation council agreed yesterday to postpone a vote on the American proposal at least until next Tuesday so Israel and her four Arab neighbors—Syria, Egypt, Lebanon and Jordan—could speak on it.

The delay was opposed by Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., who called on the council to waste no time in "setting into motion the full authority of the United Nations to deal with the present ominous drift."

Should Syria succeed in getting the American proposal transferred to the General Assembly, the larger U. N. group might not be able to act on it until winter.

Britain, France and Australia spoke in full support of the U. S. proposal. Belgium, Iran and Peru supported it in principle. But those three, the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia and Cuba said they wanted to hear Israel and the Arabs.

3 Women Injured In Synagogue

NEW YORK (AP)—The ceiling of a Bronx synagogue collapsed during a Passover service today, injuring three women worshippers. Two were reported in critical condition.

All three women were seated in the balcony. Some 30 other persons in the congregation escaped injury despite the rain of debris.

Federal Judge Archie O. Dawson sentenced Gilbert Green and Henry Winston yesterday to three years in prison on contempt charges. They now have eight years to serve.

Accidental Death Brings Prison Term

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Richard P. Kluckhohn drew a one to two-year sentence yesterday in the accidental slaying of a woman shopper behind the local hotel in which he was staying.

Kluckhohn, 21, pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Last June he was sentenced to 5-to-10 years after a jury convicted him of a similar charge in the May 13 pistol shooting of Miss Bernice Seawell, 43, of Arlington, Va. He appealed to the state supreme court, which granted him a new trial because the judge's charge to the jury was faulty.

Miss Seawell was waiting for a parking lot attendant to deliver her car during a rainy day when she was felled by a bullet.

Kluckhohn, who described the shooting as a "horrible accident," acknowledged that his German Luger pistol had discharged while he was in a hotel room, but said he did not know it had hit anyone.

Kluckhohn was in this area as a representative of a publishing firm. His parents, Dr. and Mrs. Clyde K. Maben Kluckhohn, are on the Harvard University faculty.

Judge Hamilton Hobgood of Wake Superior Court could have sentenced Kluckhohn to a maximum of 20 years in prison.

Some Violence Seen In South On Race Issue

Senator Says Dixie Not Bluffing In Bid To Reverse High Court

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scattered violence and a declaration that the South is not bluffing in its determination to win a legal reversal of the U.S. Supreme Court decisions highlighted the segregation scene last weekend.

In Pensacola, Fla., about 100 Negroes attacked and beat two white men after a Negro was shot, and in Atlanta five Negroes escaped injury when an explosion damaged a home in the northwest section into which they moved last Friday.

The Pensacola incident developed in a predominantly Negro section while two Pensacola white men, Johnnie J. Maloy, 50, and Hillary Calhoun, 41, were selling oranges from a truck.

Sheriff's deputies said Maloy accused a Negro of stealing a crate of oranges, drew and fired twice. A bullet struck Foster King, a 34-year-old Negro in the leg.

Deputies said Love Andrews, 29-year-old Negro, took the gun away from Maloy and then other Negroes swarmed over both men.

MALLOY SUFFERED a brain concussion and a compound fracture of the leg. Andrews was held without bond on a charge of affray. Calhoun was arrested on the same charge, but later freed under $100 bond.

The Atlanta explosion occurred in a predominantly white section where some homes have been sold to Negroes. A similar blast was reported there Feb. 25.

Police did not determine what caused the blast which shattered part of the foundation of the frame structure and tore a hole in the living room floor.

A white neighbor whose home suffered minor damage told police three Negro adults and two children moved out of the house with their belongings about five hours after the explosion.

In Washington, Sen. Stennis (D-Miss) said one purpose of a manifesto signed by 101 Southern senators and House members was to alert all sections of the nation to what he called Southern determination to win a legal reversal of the Supreme Court decrees outlawing segregation in the schools.

"People in other sections of the nation think we are bluffing about this," he said. "We are not."

Cincy Woman Shot While At Job In Store

CINCINNATI — Goldie Byrd, 28, is in critical condition after being shot three times at short range in crowded Rollman's Department Store where she works.

The shooting Monday panicked some shoppers who bolted for the store doors.

Mrs. Byrd's estranged husband, Benny, also 28, was captured by an off-duty policeman immediately after the shooting. Police said Byrd admitted shooting his wife.

Byrd told a Cincinnati Enquirer reporter he was "sorry the moment it happened, but I couldn't undo it."

No charges were filed immediately. The husky, out-of-work truck driver said his wife "was a good woman, the only woman I've ever loved." He told the Enquirer reporter:

"I hired a cab from Newport and rode to Rollman's. I instructed the driver to wait. When I went into the store I saw Goldie talking."

"I walked over, pulled the gun from my jacket and said to her, 'I thought I told you I was going to kill you'—then began firing."

Off-duty Police Sgt. Joseph Schwartz was standing about 20 feet away. He lunged at Byrd and after disarming him held him for the arrival of other officers.

Byrd said his troubles with his wife were caused because "I drink to excess."

Soviet College Aide Fired Failed To Teach Communism

MOSCOW — The chief Communist organizer of Tiflis University has been fired for failing to indoctrinate the students with communism successfully and for failing to wipe out national and racial pride.

This was disclosed in the March 24 issue of the Tiflis newspaper, "Dawn on the East," which reached Moscow today.

The firing of the university Communist cell's party secretary, S. Djorbenadz, was revealed in an article which said also that the students had indulged in mass cutting of their classes in Marxism-Leninism and dialectical materialism since last September.

According to university figures, between Sept. 1 and Dec. 31, 94,083 man-hours of classes "were skipped without any excuse."

The newspaper said the students organized themselves into groups and went to the movies instead of the classes while teachers "lectured in virtually empty auditoriums."

"Especially 'organized' in this way are groups in the West European language and literature faculty (school). Unfortunately they are followed by the faculty of physics," the newspaper said.

The paper said that since the beginning of 1935 "there were 176

(Tiflis is the birthplace of the late Joseph Stalin, who now is under attack by present Kremlin leaders.)

An earlier edition of Dawn of the East reported Communist party moves against university administrators. This followed student demonstrations protesting denunciations of Stalin at the party congress in Moscow last month.

It said V. Kupraze, rector of Tiflis University, had been charged with failure to keep discipline.

Kupraze, who denied reports of student disturbances in Tiflis in a telephone conversation with the Associated Press Saturday, was hauled over the coals for not giving satisfactory explanations of shortcomings.

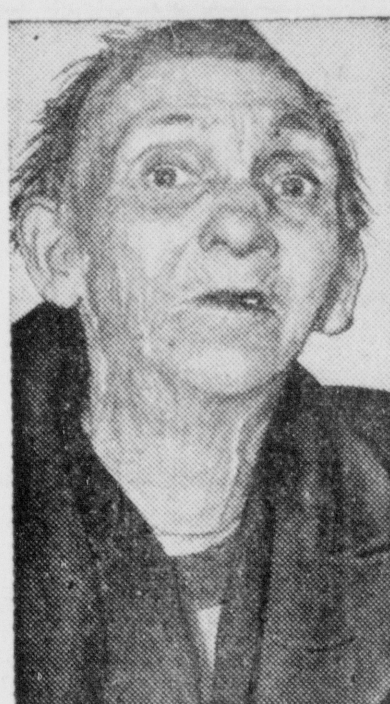

The party also rebuked one of Kupraze's professors, K. Targamadze, director of agriculture for permitting "an extremely low state of discipline among students and neglecting party ideological work."

S. Makhardze, regional party secretary in Tiflis, was accused of "failures... in educating the broad masses, particularly youth."

The article indicated party concern over the reported demonstrations.

Kupraze had told the Associated Press "the only thing which occurred was when, with the government's permission, the students took a half day off March 9 to commemorate the anniversary of the death of Joseph Stalin."

The New York Times said information reaching the United States told of trains arriving in Moscow from Georgia and other parts of the Caucasus with wind-damaged, apparently by demonstrators en route.

U. S. Industry Not Standing Still At All

Progress By Russians Startling, But Yank Ability Great, Too

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The growing industrial and military strength of Soviet Russia send shivers down some American spines. But American industry hasn't been exactly standing still either.

And it's newly announced expansion program — while aimed primarily at production of still more civilian goods — isn't without its defense potentialities.

One of the great victories of last war was won in the factories of the United States, as Francis Walton points out today in his book, Miracle of World War II, published by the MacMillan Co. The story of their conversion from peacetime to wartime output, despite many shafus, should buck up many of today's faint hearts.

But many of the peaks of production so miraculously achieved some 10 or more years ago could be dwarfed today if the new industrial capacity of the United States need once more be turned in that direction.

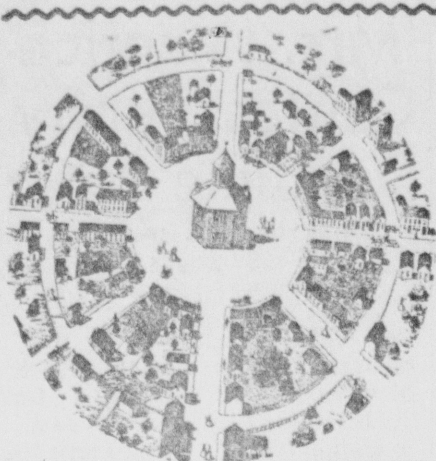

This new production potential—except for the spurt of the Korean War period — was accomplished by American industry working on its own, motivated as much, or more, by the civilian demands of a growing and prospering population as by the defense goals of the government.

Take steel. The first year the United States was in the war, 1942, Walton says nearly 77 million tons of steel of different kinds was produced. By 1944 the industry had raised production to 90 million tons and brought capacity up to 94 million. Walton's story stops with VJ day.

But in peacetime 1955 the industry turned out 117 million tons and now the capacity stands at 28,363,090 tons a year. Since the end of the war the industry has added around 40 per cent to its potential for output.

Crude oil is another defense essential. In 1940, when Europe was at war but the United States wasn't, American oil companies produced 1,353,214,000 barrels of oil. As the war ended in 1945 they the plants erected in the war years alone was 30 billion dollars.

This isn't to minimize the great role American industry played in the war years. Starting in some cases almost from

Roundtown Retrospect

No matter how often one visits Ash Cave, you'll always find something new and interesting there. This region abounds in the facts and mysteries of nature.

The geological story of the formation of this part of Ohio is written all over the rocks, and the trees and plants tell their story too. But have you ever thought of it as a place where early human beings of Ohio lived? Try this sometime you are down there — use your imagination and picture this great gorge as the home of a very early bronze-skinned people.

This region has been explored and examined many times by famous archaeologists to determine what kinds of mammals and birds these early people who lived here, killed for food and for fur, bones and feathers with which they made their clothing, tools, implements and ornaments.

The midden left in these rock shelters by the Indians are of great interest and significance to the scientists. By these, they learn there were animals and birds living in these Hocking Hills that are now extinct or are no longer native.

American factories have mushroomed, too. In the 35 years before World War II, Walton says, plant buildings for American manufacturing had totalled 45 billion dollars, and he adds: "The cost of

In Kettle Hill Cave, in Fairfield County, a rock shelter which is even larger than Ash Cave, Mr. Goslin and Dr. E. F. Greenman of the Department of Archaeology of the University of Michigan, made excavations and in the animal remains recovered, were found species which are either not too common around here or no longer exist.

Among these were the Short-tailed Shrew, Mink, Wild Dog, Flying Squirrel, Beaver, Trumpeter Swan, Ruffed Grouse, Prairie Chicken and large Salamanders.

At Canter Caves, between Chillicothe and Jackson, in "Indian Cave" and "Echo Cave", two great rock shelters in this picturesque region, were found even more of the unusual, according to Dr. H. C. Shetrone of the Ohio State Museum. In his list are found these: Cougar, Porcupine, Swallow-tailed Kite, Mississippi Kite, Raven and Grackle.

In all of the rock shelters excavated, there have been found, too, the remains of the Cow, Pig, Chicken and even the Horse. The writers attribute all of these to picnic parties. In your early picnicking days, do you remember anything about barbecued equine T Bones or Shortribs? Surely—these picnic parties must have been before our time!

Pakistan Renews Alliance With West

KARACHI (AP)—Pakistani leaders in a reaffirmation of their ties with the West have sounded a "no sale" to the neutrality overtures of Soviet Russia.

President Iskandar Mirza told the new republic's National Assembly in its first session that Pakistan stands by the Baghdad and SEATO pacts in the Middle East and Southeast Asia.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin recently said Russia could give economic aid to Pakistan. Soviet publications made it clear that Pakistan to qualify would have to divorce itself from the pacts.

U. S. Given Nod To Sue Louisiana

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has given the United States permission to file suit against Louisiana to determine ownership of a large area of oil-rich submerged lands in the Gulf of Mexico.

The United States contends Louisiana's boundary extends only three miles from its shore line. The Justice Department says the state claims nine miles "from a very extended line claimed to be the outer limit of inland waters."

Curfew On Cyprus Lifted Following Independence Day

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The population of Cyprus went back to work as usual Monday after the British ended their unprecedented 24-hour curfew on the east Mediterranean island colony.

One killing and some minor violence were reported during the 4 a. m. to 4 a. m. restriction the British ordered to prevent an outbreak recently on Greek Independence Day.

But with Cypriots free to roam the streets and countryside again, there was a fresh threat of violence from pro-Greek islanders seeking to get rid of their British colonial government. There were recurring reports, also, that another general strike might break out later this week.

British intelligence agents pressed a search during the curfew for the mysterious chieftain of the Cypriot rebels. They had been tipped off that the shadowy rebel leader, known only as "Dighennis" after a legendary Greek hero, was disguised as a black-robed Greek Orthodox priest.

THE BRITISH governor, Field Marshal Sir John Harding, ordered an absolute curfew in 15 cities and a limited curfew elsewhere to avoid possible violence on the 135th anniversary of Greece's independence from Turkey. More than 160,000 Cypriots were sealed in their homes in the 15 cities during the curfew. Outside the cities, the rest of the island's 500,000 Cypriots were restricted to the immediate vicinity of their homes. Virtually the entire 18,000-man British garrison and the entire police force moved about on the alert to throttle any violence.

Masked men shot and killed a Turkish Cypriot in a coffee shop near Limassol. The assassins escaped.

BE GLAD YOU'RE AN AMERICAN . . .

you live where men
are free to worship

As a citizen of the United States, you probably take religious freedom as much for granted as you do the air you breathe. That's understandable: the churches have always been open to you . . . as a child you learned that this nation was founded by men and women seeking religious freedom . . . that the Constitution gives every man the right to worship as he chooses . . . that Washington prayed at Valley Forge . . . that Lincoln said, "I ask the prayers of God's people" . . . and that even the coins you jingle in your pocket proclaim for this nation, "In God We Trust."

Be glad you live in the United States, rather than in some other lands whose leaders attempt to lock religion out . . . lands whose people have been persecuted, tortured, even murdered for their religious beliefs.

Napoleon said: "... religion must be under the control of the government."

Mussolini said: "Religion is a species of mental disease."

Hitler said: "The State can only wish to extend its protection to such religious organizations as can in turn be of use to it."

Stalin said: "We guarantee the right of every citizen to combat by argument, propaganda and agitation any and all religion."

These men forgot that this is the Creator's world. They ignored the question put to Job: "Where wast thou when I laid the foundation of the earth?"

Be glad you're an American. Be glad our leaders are humble and devout in their knowledge that this is God's world, and that we are His people. Be glad you live where you are free to worship Him as your heart desires.

Story Of Titanic Sinking To Be Told On TV Program

NEW YORK (AP) — "A Night To Remember," a dramatization of Walter Lord's best-selling book on the sinking of the S.S. Titanic, will be presented Wednesday night on NBC-TV.

A cast of 105 will be maneuvered among a maze of 31 sets in NBC's huge Brooklyn studios on Kraft Television Theater. The move to Brooklyn from the usual NBC Manhattan studios was forced because everybody agreed it simply wasn't safe to store 3,000 gallons of water in tanks on an upper floor of the RCA building.

That's the amount of water which will be used in two huge tanks for scenes simulating the sinking of the ship after it struck an iceberg. The water problem is only one of many that has designer Duane McKinney chewing his nails. Since scenery has been immersed in water for days during rehearsals, he can't shake off the dread that when some actor has to come through a cabin door on cue tomorrow night that door may have warped and be irrevocably closed.

"A Night To Remember" is the fruit of nearly 30 years of research by Walter Lord. Since he's still a young man, his interest in the Titanic began while he was in grammar school.

"I simply began collecting everything I read or heard about the sinking of the Titanic," Lord said the other day. "And then one day I realized I had a book. The writing took less than a year."

When the agency for Kraft—the J. Walter Thompson Co.—purchased TV rights to the book it was a simple matter of somebody dropping down the hall to Lord's office. A. J. Walter Thompson employee of long standing, he has no intention of giving up his job on the crest of this success. Now he's writing evenings and weekends on a book about the day Pearl Harbor was attacked.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department, armed with a new weapon just handed it by the Supreme Court, will now go ahead with the job of trying to make reluctant witnesses unravel some of the conspiracies in the United States.

The court Monday upheld the immunity law passed in 1954 by Congress to make unwilling witnesses—Communists or non-Communists—testify in court cases involving national security. Spying, for instance.

This law says that if a witness before a federal grand jury or congressional committee investigating a case involving national security refuses to testify—on the grounds he might incriminate himself—then:

He can be guaranteed that he won't be prosecuted. What if he still refuses? He can be cited for contempt and jailed.

But the court limited itself to saying this law could be used by the Justice Department in making grand jury investigations. It did not—and specifically said it did not—say it was all right for congressional committees to use it. The court may rule later in the committees' favor.

Grand juries and congressional committees have been hampered in their inquiries into communism by witnesses' use of the Fifth Amendment, which says a man cannot be forced to testify to anything which might incriminate him.

Once a man clams up behind this amendment neither a jury nor a committee can tell whether he really has anything to fear or is just refusing to talk to protect friends or acquaintances.

Yet, the amendment is intended to protect only the witness himself from saying anything which might lead to his own prosecution.

Congress two years ago passed the immunity law, which applies only when a witness in a national security case invokes the Fifth Amendment before a grand jury or congressional committee. This can be done: the Justice Department or the committee can ask a federal judge to promise the witness he will not be prosecuted for anything he says, even though he involves himself in a crime in the security case in question by his testimony.

This wipes out any need for the Fifth Amendment in his case. The promise of immunity takes the place of the Fifth Amendment in protecting him from prosecution.

Having been offered immunity in exchange for his testimony, if he still won't talk he can be cited for contempt and jailed. This is what happened when a federal grand jury, making the first use of the 1954 law, questioned William Ludwig Ullmann about a wartime Washington spy ring.

He invoked the Fifth Amendment, was granted immunity, refused to talk, was sentenced to six months in jail, and appealed all the way up to the Supreme Court.

Now, with the court upholding the law, a Justice department spokesman said it will go ahead with its investigations.

Living Cost Index Reported Steady

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported Monday that the nation's living costs remained unchanged in February from the January level.

Food prices declined a bit but costs of nearly everything else edged up.

The February index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics was three-tenths of 1 per cent higher than February than in February 1955.

The bureau's index was 114.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average base period, the same level as in January.

Funds raised during the campaign, which ends April 10, are used to aid crippled children in Pickaway County.

House Numbering Project Underway In New Holland

The second part of a $500 street naming and house numbering project is in progress in the New Holland area. The work, being done by the community Lions Club, began several months ago when street markers were erected.

Currently, Lion members are placing numbers on various business houses and residences in the village. Since the work is done in the members' spare time, it is progressing slowly.

Cost of the project is $200 more than was estimated when it was first begun. Of the total cost, $400 was for street numbers alone. The organization is accepting donations of $1.50 to finance the work, which is strictly voluntary.

Ohio Mental Patient List On Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The number of patients in Ohio's mental institutions has decreased by 156 persons in the past year, Dr. John D. Porterfield, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, said today.

This drop came despite an increase of more than 200 in the population of institutions for the mentally retarded.

The total number of mental patients in Ohio stands today at 35,914, as compared with 36,070 at this time last year, Dr. Porterfield said.

The number of patients in hospitals for the mentally ill at this time is 225 less than a year ago and 340 less than the all-time high of 27,231 reached July 1, 1955.

The number of institutionalized epileptics has also fallen since last year. But the mentally retarded population rose from 7,301 to 7,508.

Dr. Porterfield said much of the decline can be attributed to the number of treatment personnel, the use of tranquilizing drugs and a 50 per cent increase in the mental hygiene program's social service personnel.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: We have been married almost 15 years. Mary is 33 and I am 39. We have three lovely children; the eldest is 10. Our marriage was most happy for eight years; and few men have been loved as Mary loved me—and I am sure she was perfect.

My childish stupidity was the cause of our grief. I am sure we drank, danced and ran around too much. We seemed to cultivate the friendship of bitterly unhappy couples, many of whom are now divorced. My drinking became excessive, which led to infidelity on my part.

In the spring of 1952 I stopped drinking completely, aware that my marriage and my health were in danger. But the damage was done; Mary's love was dead. In 1954 she filed for a divorce; then let the suit lapse and 10 months later we reconciled, resolved to straighten out our lives and make our marriage secure.

For nearly four years I have been a model husband. I don't drink and I shower affection and attention on Mary, with absolute none in return. We have read some very good books—"The Sermon on the Mount," "Power Through Constructive Thinking" and "The Power of Positive Thinking"—which have helped me tremendously. And Mary contends she has forgiven my wrongdoing, but resentment and bitterness are still with her.

Mary insists upon maintaining friendships with unhappily married couples—one of whom is now in a divorce action. I have tried unsuccessfully, these four years, to induce her to forget such people.

Is mental treatment needed by one or both of us? If so, what type do you recommend? We know little about such therapy. Mary knows of this letter and approves.

D. D.

DEAR D. D.: Until 1952, perhaps you were more actively destructive than Mary, in the matter of spoiling your marriage. But even so, all along she was a neurotic incompetent in double harness. And since you've turned over a new leaf, in alarm, she has been vengefully noncooperative. This is the essential unconscious significance of her emotionally "dead" attitude—regardless of what she may "think" it means.

Maybe also she unconsciously feels relieved of the former strain of playing a part. Certain facets of your story indicate that Mary's growth as a person is blocked by a predominantly infantile emotional bias—of which she is unaware.

Her overall performance makes clear that she is compulsively dependent upon somebody other than herself to afford her a way of life. She rejects responsibility for herself—as in refusing to consult a marriage counselor or psychiatrist. When she was counting on you to be her "life" (figuratively speaking), to her satisfaction—as in the first years of marriage—she purported to be, and supposed she was, "utterly" in love with you.

But her "love" at that time wasn't love at all, in the mature or moral sense. Rather it was a turgid mixture of many neurotic clinging sentiments, all having to do with self-serving aims.

In any case, when Mary tired of the struggle for the upper hand, she also stopped being "in love." And did she then become susceptible to new "love"? Is that what sobered you up? Since your reform, perhaps she feels absolved of necessity to be "in love" to hold you. And it is noteworthy that she has a yen for unhappy couples. The psychoanalyst Dr. Edmund Bergler, author of "Divorce Won't Help" (Harper's) documents the affinity of neurotics for each other. Mary definitely needs analytic help, to progress from infantilism to womanhood.

3-Engine Bomber Crashes In Texas

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—An XB-51 three-engine jet bomber, the only one of its type in existence, crashed recently, killing one man and injuring another.

A 28-year-old staff sergeant, whose name is being withheld, was killed and the pilot, Maj. James O. Rudolph, one of the Air Force's top test pilots, was severely burned when the plane crashed.

The plane, based at Edwards Air Force Base in Muroc, Calif., was being flown to Eglin, Fla.

Only two XB-51s were constructed and the other crashed in 1952.

FORD WINS IN ECONOMY TOO!

V-8 WINS CLASS A

In this year's Economy Run a new Ford V-8, with Fordomatic was the official victor over every car in its field, with a winning average of 47.7643 ton-miles per gallon. This means that the sturdier, heavier Ford carried more weight, with greater gas economy per pound, than any car in its field.

This latest Ford victory was scored over a rough and rigorous 1,468.8-mile route running from Los Angeles to Colorado Springs. The winning Ford threaded its way over the tough and twisting course averaging better than 40 mph. Through the heat of Death Valley and over the chilling height of an 11,000-foot mountain peak... through the gas-eating stop-and-go of city traffic and over the straight-line open road... Ford proved anew its traditional reputation for economical performance.

The winning Ford was a regular-production model taken right from the assembly line and officially impounded until the starter's gun sounded. It was no different than thousands of '56 Fords you see on the road and in dealers' showrooms. This proves that Ford, the Performance, Style and Safety leader, leads in Economy, too! That adds up to four big reasons why the '56 Ford is worth more when you buy it, while you drive it, and when you sell it, too!

The "ton-mile" formula is used by contest officials to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size or weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by the number of miles traveled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

PROOF AWAITED

SOVIET LEADERS have been proclaiming a "new era" of East-West relations in which they disclaim that war is inevitable. They are trying to convince the free world that they are willing to compete rather than fight for world approval.

Western diplomats and government leaders take all this with the proverbial "grain of salt," looking with skepticism on the Russian flip-flop. They have seen many switchbacks in the communist policy and know the general direction never has changed. As practical men, they demand concrete evidence of a Soviet change of heart—action instead of words.

Something of the sort now has turned up in Russia's payment of more than $700,000 for shooting down a U. S. Navy plane over the Bering Sea last June. This is the first time in all of the U. S.-Soviet clashes that the Russians have paid up. Naturally, even this development will be accepted with skepticism. The sum would be a small price if it resulted in the U. S. relaxing its guard against red expansion. More evidence will be needed before Russian smiles can be accepted as sincere.

That evidence could be forthcoming, or be notable in its absence, at the current UN disarmament conference in London. The British and French have proposed a plan for disarming, details of which have not been fully revealed. But if it provides safeguards satisfactory to the U. S. and proves workable—and if the Russians then accept it and cooperate in it, the West will be more inclined to recognize the "new era."

AIRPLANE PROFITS

TO A HOUSE sub-committee inquiring into profits of plane makers who hold government contracts to deliver military aircraft and supplies to the United States, Robert H. Charles said the manufacturers are making not too big but too small a profit.

This executive vice president of McDonnell Aircraft Corporation, St. Louis, argues that profits are plowed back into research projects and more efficient methods of manufacturing. If forced to skimp on research and efficiency, the costs of making planes for the government will continue high. The government would save more in the long run, he asserted, by allowing the profits and even giving tax incentives.

Some of the companies, including the Boeing Airplane Company, have been ordered to hand some of their profits back to the government.

It is demonstrable that American industrial efficiency constantly cuts costs. These economies, as they are achieved, might eventually be passed back to taxpayers who put up the money for the planes. Job of the industrialists is to sell government officials on letting profits stay high until research and plant efficiency goals are reached. Such a policy will help the taxpayers in the long run.

PIN POINTING THE ISSUE

U. S. AIR FORCE is budgeted $16.5 billion for the fiscal year beginning next July 1. To this Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, proposes to add $1.5 billion by reducing the proposed foreign aid budget by a similar amount.

That lines up the issue about as well as anything could. On the one side is the fear, which cuts across party lines, that Russia

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

I always thought that whoever worked for the State Department was a diplomat or a consul or a clerk who coded and decoded messages. I had been accustomed to think of the State Department as being a foreign service, as looking after the international relations of the country, as trying to maintain the peace whereas the Department of Defense prepared for war.

But now I receive a complaint from the American Chemical Society that the State Department's scientific corps has deteriorated. Apparently, there used to be scientists in the State Department whose business it could have been to tell the Secretary of State what a molecule is, but alas! they have all been fired and now the Secretary of State will have no one to tell him what a molecule is except the Under Secretary of State who knew such things long before he became a diplomat.

Apparently—and most Americans, I am sure never heard of it—there was an International Science Steering Committee which was headed by an engineer, Lloyd V. Berkner. This Committee advised the State Department to have scientists in the State Department and as Berkner is a very distinguished man in his field, his advice was accepted; so 10 scientists were appointed to the embassies in London, Stockholm, Paris and Tokyo.

What they did there, the mimeograph before me does not say, except that they were very important and that the service should be continued.

It strikes me that with all the varied scientists available in the government, in universities and in private enterprise, if the government needs to get hold of one for some special purpose, as, for instance, to prime the President on heavy water or plankton or something like that, it ought to be possible to pull the biggest authority on the subject out of a filing cabinet and bring him down to Washington or to send him abroad.

It is like when the family doctor needs to convince you that you are very sick and you have serious doubts on the subject, he brings in a specialist who tells you that if you don't listen to him, you will surely die.

The family doctor always knows the name and telephone number of an available specialist. It would seem to me that the Administration in Washington could have similar information about all kinds of scientists.

Much of this excitement over scientists as diplomats undoubtedly arises from all this atomic business and the need for having someone around who can talk scientific jargon which is a language all on its own and requires considerable study even to be able to read a page in a chemistry or a physics book.

Everything since Einstein has been made so complicated that what one learned in his youth no longer helps much. So even if we had educated ambassadors, they would be stuck when they saw it all put out in Greek letters with parentheses all around everything and little numerals on the side.

But it is possible to hire an expert to translate most of this stuff into English and even a foreigner will do, since now there are no more secrets, everything having either been stolen or given away.

is gaining in the air and that for the Soviet Union to surpass this country would be fatal.

There are a great many persons who would go all out on aerial armament. If that means loss of foreign bases now surrounding Russia because the nations granting the bases to this country will be offended, so be it. In this thinking runs very strongly the hemispheric concept of making a fortress out of the Americas.

Others fully as sincere believe the U. S. must be helpful through aid or the aspiring peoples will accept Moscow as their political and economic model.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

IN COURT, Michael often felt that he was defending a ghost, that if he suddenly looked away, he could not look back quickly enough to find David in his chair. Acting for such a client was uncomfortable.

By the end of the fifth day, the jury was dead. Judge Yankers, a lean, stooping man whose chief traits were melancholy and disapproval, customarily viewed Michael with a distrust born of their inherent differences. This time he leaned backward to allow Michael a choice of jurors. Michael was not elated. If Yankers had believed his client stood an even chance of acquittal, he would have harried Michael in a dozen ways.

In addition, Michael took little joy in the jury. Six and six. Six bachelors, six married men. There wasn't a one in the lot who didn't resent this jury duty. Five, to Michael's certain knowledge, had planned to go to Skagway to be on hand for the first spring rush. The emotion of "let's get this over fast" filled the courtroom.

Men looked at David, their thoughts plain. Any man who'd go after that whey-faced chit of a girl must be off his rocker. Let's not clutter up our lives with his troubles. Let's get on with it! The calm of unhurried justice wasn't in them. Maybe, Michael decided, it went out with the first news of the Klondike.

Michael offered very little defense to the original statements. He accepted the fact of Louise's pregnancy without demur. It was futile to argue with a medical man as respected as Dr. Carruthers.

Michael watched David uneasily. Most clients, who believed firmly that the best lawyers made the most noise, would have been eying defending counsel with irate temper. David acted barely aware of either counsel or surroundings.

When Darcy Fenner was sworn in, Michael's worries increased. He had counted on being able to discount Darcy's testimony. Bartenders weren't the best character references, and jurors, though they might be a saloon's best customers, did not take too much stock in a bartender's virtue. Michael, who had expected belligerence from Darcy, encountered none. Darcy stated facts, let them sink home. He'd noticed his sister was upset; he thought at first she was worried about her music lessons. She didn't do too well with the piano.

"Lurkins gave her a lot of extra time," Darcy said. "I thought it was right kind of him. I told her to buck up, be patient; then one night I find her bawling and she tells me she's going to have a baby and that the music teacher's the father."

The raw words, spoken in Darcy's harsh tones, slithered through the courtroom. People shifted, whispered together. Michael looked at the back row of seats, caught a glare from Charlotte Linden. Charlotte hadn't invited him to her home since he took David's case; she had told him that all women were disgusted with him.

"When you defended women from—well, the wrong district, that was different. Now you're going against your own kind."

"All men are tied together by the need of each man, Lotty."

"Oh, fiddlesticks! You always did have too many fancy notions, Michael! Why should you throw away your career for a fool like David Lurkins? After this, nobody decent is going to hire you."

"You mean anybody rich, Lotty?"

"All right, maybe I do. Why, even the man's own wife thinks he's guilty!"

David was his own liability. His withdrawn suffering came across to the spectators as sullen guilt. Michael suspected he would contradict himself in testimony a dozen times. No matter, he would have to go on the stand.

The case dragged on. Carrie Walsh, the roses on her new hat bobbing excitedly, testified to hearing Louise crying in her room. "I thought her brother kept her cooped up too tight. Says I, a girl needs a bit of leeway. I was wrong that time. He didn't keep her cooped up tight enough!"

Michael cross-examined, established that Carrie's actual knowledge was nonexistent, but he knew he hadn't erased her effect. Darcy's strictness, Louise's lack of other friends drove the matter home to David. Michael couldn't make a liar out of Carrie. She wasn't. She believed everything she said and the jury knew it.

At three in the afternoon, Judge Yankers recessed until the next morning. Michael and David headed home through an abruptly silent crowd, conversation rising behind them like a boat's wake. As they rounded the last corner before the Lurkins house, an accurately aimed tomato whizzed through the air and splattered David's cheek, sliding its crimson trail down his coat.

Michael would have given chase but David grabbed his arm. "Don't bother. You would catch no one and it doesn't matter." He mopped his face, scrubbed his coat. "Children, I suppose. Adults don't throw things, but children act on the reflected attitudes of their parents."

At his back door, David halted. By permission of THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY, INC. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Toys Are A Big Help In The Operating Room

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

CUDDLY teddy bears, rubber rabbits and toy telephones play an important part in operating room procedures at many of the nation's hospitals. So do toy space and "jet pilot" helmets.

An increasing number of hospitals are employing these toys to administer anesthesia without fear to young surgery patients.

Strange Surroundings

It's perfectly natural for a youngster to be frightened by the strange surroundings of an operating room. The white-gowned figures are scary enough, but add a confining anesthetic mask or cone and you're really got a frightened patient.

In the past, only too often, coaxing or outright threats have been used to get children to cooperate.

Now, however, physicians have devised toy telephones which exude nitrous oxide and "Sleepy Rabbits" which easily enable a child to be whisked into blissful unconsciousness by cyclopropane.

Plastic Helmets

The teddy bears and plastic helmets also permit easy administration of anesthesia. A recent article in Medical

News tells of the success two St. Louis City surgeons had with the rubber "Sleepy Rabbit."

Drs. Thomas Ray Broadbent and Jack Stringham of Latterday Saints Hospital first recommend that the steps leading to unconsciousness be explained to the child in simple terms.

Then, the young patient is permitted to hold the teddy bear or phone, look at the closely held rubber rabbit or don the space helmet while the anesthetic flows through the toy into the child's face.

Some children, of course, won't hold still for the toys, either. In such cases, the doctors advise the anesthetic tube is removed from the toy and this alone is used without any kind of a mask.

So, you see, toys in the operating room may be almost as important as a scalpel.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. C. L.: My 20-year-old son has a very high-pitched voice. This began at the age of 14. What can be causing this?

Answer: Some disorder of the vocal cords or nervous system may be at fault. A thorough physical examination will probably reveal the exact cause.

'Japanese Look' Grips City

By RELMAN MORIN (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—A lot of nice things have been said about Miss Truman's fiancé, Cliff Daniel, and I am going to add to them from a particular point of view. During the big war, he ran the day news desk in the Associated Press London office, and I was on his staff for a spell. He is a quiet type, with an easy way and an off-beat sense of humor. But when necessary, he could be a hard driver, and his famous urbanity disappeared.

Nevertheless, he was unfailingly popular with his staff, a fairly acid test of a newspaperman, or of any man.

Japanese art has had an amazing impact on this town in the last two or three years. You see the "Japanese Look" all over the place.

It has affected the amount of furniture in living rooms and the number of flowers in a vase less furniture, fewer flowers. Some new apartments have what the Japanese call "Shoji," sliding panels, instead of doors on clothes closets. A type of electric lamp shade that resembles a Japanese lantern in glass is appearing in shop windows.

This interest was well foreshadowed by the success of the Japanese house, brought here by the Museum of Modern Art. In the four months of 1954 when it was open, the house attracted 121,187 people at 60 cents a ticket. Last summer, 101,937 went through.

It is a genuine home, shipped in sections and reassembled here. The museum directors surrounded it with a real Japanese garden.

The house has been such a success it probably will be kept on some other site as a permanent institution, the museum said.

Adlai Stevenson was here a while back and a theatrical producer gave a cocktail party for him at a restaurant in the theater district. Most of the guests were actors and actresses accustomed to attracting all the attention themselves. But such is the lure of politics that they crowded around Stevenson o'hing and ah'ing, and one lady said, "I just want to tell you that I think you're won-der-ful."

Stevenson, a man seldom at a loss for words, could only run his finger around his collar, murmuring, "Well-ah-well, I'm sure I-well, thank you very much."

New Fabrics Offer More Enjoyment For Home Sewing

Home sewers are in for a high sartorial adventure this Spring. Never were clothes so handsome, and lines so easy to handle, never have there been such delightful fabrics and prints.

Many of the most desirable fabrics are of the wash-and-wear variety.

New smooth cottons are moving right up into first place with home sewers. You'll note that there are fewer tweedy cottons this time. The emphasis now is on the thicker cottons of the matelasse type, on the heavy piques and coarse tapestry effects.

The dress with its matching jacket, bolero, or, newest of all, little cape, is in every collection at every price level. And the paper patterns reflect the prevalence of the ensemble.

Black cottons and the charcoal tones are good choices for basic outfits. There are also exquisite silk and cotton mixtures that are competing with pure silk. This mixture gives more body to the fabric and a distinctive iridescence and a deeper tone to the color.

With the emphasis on the simple sheath or the sheath broken by a blouse back or loose panels to soften the stark line, making a dress should be a delight to do. But here is one piece of good advice to remember when you shop for yard goods.

When you've narrowed down your selections in the fine wash-and-wear fabrics, do pay attention to the labels that give washing instructions or get them from salespeople who really know their job. If none is available, it is best to pass up the fabric, however much you like it, in favor of one that offers proper upkeep instructions. Then you'll really be getting top value.

Floral Prints Spotlight Fashion Trend For Spring

Flowers, always synonymous with Spring, are very much in the fashion picture this season, and these colorful floral tributes are to be seen in every type and style of costume, from the very casual play suit right through to the most elegant evening clothes.

Proof that these pretty prints are the toast of the year is that they have been chosen by top designers both here and abroad.

The above picture shows a sheath dress fashioned by American designer, Adele Simpson. This beige, brown and white silk satin in a floral print with a matching bolero capelet is perfect for evenings on the town. The small wrap that goes with it is generously colored with ermine and when removed discloses a low décolletage.

From the salon of Christian Dior, comes a beautiful evening gown of satin-taffeta with large gold flowers and leaves printed on a background of white. The gown is shorter in front, long and fan-shaped in back to form a train. The bodice is gathered and has wide shoulder straps with a bow in the back.

Another outstanding American, Harvey Berin, fashioned a taffetized silk crepe that features brown flowers on a white ground. The bodice is fitted, with a low square neckline, tiny sleeves and velvet trim.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennet Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Northeastern Ohio A Giant, Growing Faster Than Ever

(Editor's Note: The big industries are booming in Northeast Ohio. This is the first of a series of Associated Press stories telling what is happening in that area.)

By MILES A. SMITH
CLEVELAND (AP) — Northeast Ohio has been an industrial giant for a century. Now it is growing faster than ever.

The more this giant flexes his steel muscles, the more he eats. The more he eats, the more he grows.

It takes no crystal ball to see that in another three years of breeches — busting industrial activity, the Cleveland — Akron — Youngstown — Ashtabula corner of the state will be in a dither of dollars and jobs.

And about that time the St. Lawrence Seaway will open, and another round of growth will start.

Two industries are expanding rapidly around here, without much direct relationship to the seaway. They are autos and steel.

Sometimes it looks as though the auto makers are starting new plants in this area because more steel is becoming available here. Sometimes it looks as though the steel makers are expanding here because new auto plants are coming in. And sometimes it seems as though both factors are at work — like one industrial hand washing the other.

Actually, each of these statements is only partly true.

The entire steel industry has been running full blast and still it can't keep up with demand. Because the whole country is growing, it consumes greater quantities of "hard goods." So the nation's and Ohio's steel industry would be expanding anyway, regardless of where the auto plants were put.

Likewise, the auto industry for several years has been locating new body plants, new assembly plants, new foundries—in fact all types of units—in scattered areas away from the auto hub, Detroit. Dispersal of plants, whether for defense purposes or for complex marketing reasons, is an established pattern.

Ford, which already had an engine plant and foundry on Cleveland's southwest side, in Brook Park village, opened another engine plant there last year. It created 2,000 new jobs and more are in prospect.

Then Ford completed its new stamping plant, at a cost of nearly 100 million dollars, at Walton Hills, near Bedford, down towards Akron. Employment there has been running about 3,800.

Next came word from two steel companies of their expansion plans, particularly in this area.

Republic Steel said it would spend 130 million dollars in three years, on a national basis. That was on top of an earlier program, and by January of this year the grand total had reached about 180 million. About half of the big program goes to Cleveland, another big chunk to Warren, and a smaller slice to Youngstown. Northern Ohio is expected to get somewhere around 60 to 70 per cent of the expenditures.

Jones & Laughlin Steel, employing about 4,000 in its present Cleveland facilities, said it would raise capacity about 30 per cent. It gave no cost figures, but the expectation is that it will spend as much as 65 million dollars here.

Next, Chrysler began dickering last fall for sites here for a huge stamping plant costing 85 million dollars. Frustrated by zoning troubles on the city's western lakefront, it went to northern Summit County (Akron). It finally chose a spot near Twinsburg, and the foundation work is being done. Eventually that plant will employ about 3,500 workers.

Then the Euclid Division of General Motors, which makes heavy equipment, took options on another site in northern Summit County, in Hudson Township. If the project doesn't get bogged down in a township zoning fight, the plant eventually would employ 4,000.

Only a few weeks ago, General Motors broke the news that its largest Chevrolet assembly plant, to be shared by Fisher Body, will be constructed at Lordsburg, Trumbull County, near Warren, Niles and Youngstown in the Mahoning Valley. Its cost will run about 75 million dollars and in a couple of years it will be employing about 8,000 industrial and office workers.

Then on March 7 Youngstown Sheet & Tube gave the Mahoning Valley a shot in the arm by announcing an expansion program that can cost as much as 250 million dollars in the next three years. In the first two years a lot of that will go to increase basic steel capacity one million tons, and finishing facilities will be enlarged. About 40 per cent of the capacity increase will be in the Youngstown area.

Taxpayers Get That Unwelcome Reminder; Deadline Is Nearing

Here is that sad annual reminder for taxpayers in Pickaway County and the rest of the district covered by the Columbus office of the Internal Revenue Service.

With only about three weeks remaining before the deadline for filing of Federal income tax returns, an estimated 289,000 taxpayers in this section of the state have yet to file their forms 1040 and 1040A. The warning comes from Nathaniel Looker, district director of the Columbus office.

He revealed that only 275,000 returns had been received in that office as of March 15.

The director urged taxpayers to get to work at once on preparing their 1955 returns. As time passes, he pointed out, it becomes increasingly difficult to collect all essential financial records of last year, receipted bills, cancelled checks, and other papers which enable the taxpayer to prepare the most accurate type of return. In addition, the longer the taxpayer waits the more pressing becomes the obligation, and some essential entries may be overlooked or incorrectly entered.

TARDY OR forgetful taxpayers who have yet to meet their annual obligation have been urged to make a special note of the times when special assistance will be available at the Internal Revenue Service offices in Columbus, Chillicothe and Lancaster. To give guidance and help, offices in those cities will be open during April as follows:

Columbus—8 a. m. to 5 p. m., April 2 through April 16, except Saturdays and Sundays. Telephone — Capital 8-6461.

Chillicothe—8 a. m. to 5 p. m., April 6, 13 and 16. Telephone — 3-3386.

Lancaster—8 a. m. to 5 p. m., April 6, 13 and 16. Telephone—3546.

The Columbus office only will be open until 9 p. m. on April 16, for the benefit of taxpayers whose office hours coincide with those of the district office.

Telephone assistance is available, but officials cautioned that it will be more difficult to obtain as the filing deadline nears.

Above all, remember the filing deadline—Monday, April 16!

Farmer Discontent Seeping Into Wisconsin Vote Booth

NEW RICHMOND, Wis. (AP) — Farm unrest is seeping over from Minnesota into Wisconsin. So is some of the sentiment for Sen. Estes Kefauver, who upset Adlai E. Stevenson in Minnesota's Democratic presidential primary a week ago.

Both are more apparent around here, in the northwestern part of the state near the Minnesota border, than elsewhere in Wisconsin.

But there is evidence even some of the bigger, more efficient, tra-

Liquor Permit Situation Eyed By Ohio Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court decision knocking out the freeze on hard liquor permits has created a problem in nose counting for the state's Department of Liquor Control.

Department Director William C. Bryant says also that the number of liquor permits may be "almost doubled" in Ohio as a result of the court decision.

In a letter Monday to Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, Bryant said: "It (the decision) places upon us an apparently insurmountable obstacle, namely, determining the approximate correct population in nearly 1,000 permit districts practically overnight."

The department limits permits to one for each 2,000 persons in cities under 55,000 population and one for each 1,500 residents in cities over 55,000 population.

Last Wednesday, the high court, by a 5-2 decision, held invalid the freeze on the issuance of new permits established in 1949. In its decision the court said the freeze failed to take into consideration population changes that might entitle growing areas to more permits.

In his letter Bryant added: "The ideal situation in Ohio would be if we had a full official census as of 1956. That we do not have nor is there one in existence."

The last official federal census was in 1950. Since then, the unofficial population count has shown a rapid growth in some cities and decreases in other areas.

Bryant also urged the attorney general to seek a rehearing before the court on its decision.

Bryant said: "I feel that it (the decision) should be given the most careful attention possible in view of the potential result that the number of existing liquor permits under this decision may be almost doubled."

Should Kefauver come up with something like half the total vote, it probably would be considered an indication of a definite Democratic trend.

Democrats probably would contend a third of the vote would represent a good showing for Kefauver. In the 1952 primary, Democrats collected about 25 per cent of the vote, Republicans 75 per cent.

If the November election could be moved up to March, Eisenhower would be favored to take Wisconsin again, although probably by a smaller margin than his 3-2 edge of four years ago.

What brings out heads of political perspiration on Republican brows is the extent to which discontent among farmers may spread in the months before the general election.

Take Wilbur Renk of Sun Prairie, in south-central Wisconsin. He and his brothers farm 2,500 acres and operate an extensive seed corn business. Renk is considered one of the most prosperous farmers in the state. He is a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin.

Four years ago, he headed the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee in the state. Now he is less than happy about the administration farm program.

He isn't saying he will vote Democratic, but he did say in an interview: "I know the farmers are very discontented. I think they are going to be a very attentive political audience for the Democrats this year."

In Northwestern Wisconsin there is a higher proportion of marginal farms and a higher ratio of discontent.

Consequently, political feeling in the area has to be discounted to some extent as not entirely typical. But it is important because of the undetermined degree to which it may seep into other regions.

Calvin Coolidge took the oath of office as President of the United States in the Vermont farmhouse where he was born.

Ohio Judgeship To Get Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) of the Senate Judiciary Committee has said he would recommend Senate confirmation this week of the appointment of Paul C. Weick of Akron to be judge of the Federal District Court of Northern Ohio.

Sens. Bricker and Bender, Ohio Republicans, supported Weick's nomination at a judiciary subcommittee hearing yesterday.

Weick would succeed the late Judge Emerick B. Freed.

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Radio Warsaw announced Monday the dismissal of Piotr Jaroszewicz as minister of coal production. Observers here said the change was apparently prompted by lagging production in Poland's mines.

HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A GARDEN FENCE

An attractive fence can be made with boards offset instead of in line. Determine the board spacing and height desired. The closer the boards and the higher the fence the greater the privacy. Treat the butts of posts with an oil-borne wood preservative. Set the posts six feet apart with about one-fourth of their length in the ground and at least 1 foot in concrete. Fasten 6-foot 2 by 4 rails across the tops of the posts. Cut 1/4-inch mortises in the lower portion of the posts to receive the bottom rails. Cut the rails to fit. Use 20-penny non-rusting nails to attach the top 2 by 4's and to toenail the bottom ones. Stagger vertical 1 by 6-inch boards on opposite sides of the fence and attach with 10-penny non-rusting nails. Paint the completed fence with a good outside paint.

Training Camp News Briefs

MESA, Ariz. (P)—Manager Stan Hack of the Chicago Cubs is having infield troubles, the kind most managers enjoy.

Hack benched shortstop Ernie Banks and second baseman Gene Baker Monday to get a good look at Ed Winceniak and Ritchie Myers at short and second, respectively.

"I've got to see more of Myers and Winceniak," said Hack, "so I can make up my mind which one to keep."

The Cubs beat Cleveland, 9-5, Monday with Myers slamming a homer and single and Winceniak getting a double and triple.

TAMPA, Fla. (P)—Frank Lane, former Chicago White Sox general manager now serving in the same capacity with the St. Louis Cardinals, might be right again.

Lane told Manager Marty Marion of the White Sox early this season "Sammy Esposito will be your third baseman before the season is over."

Esposito, playing like a veteran, bashed out two more hits Monday and gives every indication that he might move George Kell out of the hot corner.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (P)—Manager Charlie Grimm of the Milwaukee Braves says that moving Henry Aaron from the outfield would be a poor solution to the Braves' problem at second base.

"Henry doesn't like to play second; he claims it interferes with his hitting," Grimm said Monday, "and I am afraid he might be spiked."

The Braves, whipped 16-9 by the Pittsburgh Pirates Monday at Fort Myers, came here today to meet the St. Louis Cardinals.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (P)—Brooks (The Bull) Lawrence, the big righthander traded to Cincinnati, has come back to haunt the St. Louis Cardinals.

Lawrence went all the way for

Matchmaker Faces Contempt Charge

LOS ANGELES (P)—Contempt charges against Los Angeles Matchmaker Babe McCoy are being sought by James Cox, head of Gov. Goodwin Knight's special committee investigating boxing in California.

"As far as I'm concerned, McCoy is in contempt of this hearing for having failed to make his books available as he was ordered by Judge John J. Ford," Cox said.

When Watson Jones, former California state light-heavyweight champion, testified Monday he "threw" four fights, three on orders of McCoy, matchmaker at the Olympic Auditorium, the list of "fixed" fights rose to 12.

Veteran National League umpire Ralph (Babe) Pinella has not missed an arbiting assignment since he joined the league in 1935. During this time, he has worked more than 3,200 games without a miss.

Charlie Dressen's Crewmen Face Fight For Last Place

ORLANDO (P)—Charlie Dressen's recent announcement that he intends to remove himself from the coaching lines this year was construed by some as an indication that the Washington Senators manager does not expect any of his hirelings to reach base.

That is not true. It means that Dressen believes he has a better chance to make the Senators resemble a major league team by masterminding from the bench. Whether Charlie directs from the coaching lines or from the bench, it still is a tremendous undertaking.

The Senators figure to battle the Baltimore Orioles for last place, if for no other reason than they're composed mainly of players who haven't made good anywhere else. Except for Roy Sievers, Eddie Yost, Pete Runnels and Clint Courtney there isn't an established major leaguer on the roster.

The present pitching staff won a total of only 25 major league games last year. The big winner was Dean Stone, and he won only six games.

The offensive picture is no brighter. The current team hit a combined total of 59 home runs in the majors last season. Of this number, Sievers collected 25. The only 300 hitter is Courtney, who batted .309 in 94 games.

Dressen, normally a voluble optimist, isn't saying much. He realizes if the Senators are going to climb out of the American League basement, they must get major league performances out of players who have little or no big league experience.

"It's an all-out gamble on youth," is the way Dressen explained it. "I know we've been criticized in some quarters for trading off such established players as Mickey Vernon, Bob Porterfield and Maury McDermott for kids with little or no experience. You must realize, however, that we finished last with those fellows."

Buck Baseballers Wind Up Tourney

WINTER PARK, Fla. (P)—Ohio State dropped its final Rollins Baseball Week tournament game to Yale yesterday 9-8.

The Buckeyes finished the tournament with a 5-2 record.

Warriors Stung By Pesky Nats

NEW YORK (P)—The mighty Philadelphia Warriors, stung at the thought of being beaten at their own game, take on the Syracuse Nationals in a slated semifinal National Basketball Assn. series at Philadelphia tonight.

In the other semifinal, the St. Louis Hawks, playing on their own court, will try to eliminate the Fort Wayne Pistons. The Hawks lead 2-1 in this best-of-five series.

The Warriors, virtually unbeatable in the Quaker City all season, are planning a hot welcome for the upstart Nats who polished them off 122-118 at Syracuse Sunday to even the set at 1-1.

Russell Paces All-Star Win

KANSAS CITY (P)—San Francisco's fabulous Bill Russell scored 18 points and snagged 10 rebounds last night to lead the West to an expected victory over the East, 74-62, in the fifth annual Shrine All-Star basketball game.

Russell, Art Buntz of Utah and Robin Freeman of Ohio State shot the West to a 14-0 lead before Furman's Darrell Floyd scored for the East on a couple of free throws after five minutes of play.

After Russell, high scorers for the West were Freeman (14), Buntz (10) and Don Boldebeck of Houston (10).

TCU All-America back Jim Swink averaged 8.2 yards per carry during the 1955 football season. He made 1,283 yards on 157 carries.

Baltimore Boss Feels Club To Be Improved Over 1955

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (P)—Paul Richards, the boss and brains of the Baltimore ball club, believes the team will be somewhat improved this year over 1955, and well it may be.

No one in the camp, however, expects any miracles, and one of the Baltimore baseball writers, Neal Eskridge, may have pegged the situation correctly when he observed, with a melancholy sigh: "Washington is about the only club we'll finish ahead of, I'm afraid."

So it went with the seventh place finishing flock last year, four games ahead of the Senators and six games behind Kansas City.

Richards describes himself first and foremost as a defensive manager, and defense is probably the Orioles' strongest point.

With the bright exception of at least one rookie, Tito Francona, however, the long ball, the knock-out punch, has not been evident thus far this spring.

The key players may be regarded as Hal Smith, the No. 1 catcher, and Gus Triandos, the first baseman who also spells Smith on occasion behind the plate.

Richards' penchant for shuffling and reshuffling personnel and position is well known, and today's guess about who will play where may be entirely different tomorrow.

The manager has expressed satisfaction with Smith and Triandos, and with Willie Miranda at shortstop and his outfield performers. He also feels that of the pitchers, Jim Wilson, whose 12 wins was the most for the Oriole hurlers last year; Bill Wight, Ray Moore and Irv Palica are fairly well established.

If play in the American League started Wednesday, it is probable that the infield would list Triandos and Miranda, Fred Marsh at third, and Bobby Adams, acquired from the White Sox, at second.

The outfield might include Jim Dyck, Chuck Diering and Dave Pope, with another veteran, Dave Philley, available and adequate. Philley and Pope came to Baltimore from Cleveland early last season and for the year batted .299 and .284. Dyck hit .279 and Diering .258.

Boyd To Open Baseball Clinic In Columbus

Dick Boyd, Circleville High School coach and president of the Ohio High School Baseball Coaches Association, will open the latter group's 1956 clinic in Columbus Friday morning. The session will last two days.

Boyd will give the welcoming address at 9:50 a. m. Friday. Here is the schedule which will follow:

Friday
10 to 11 a. m.—preparation and strategy in Class B baseball, by C. L. Payne (coach of Lockland's 1955 Class B champs).

11 a. m. to noon—conditioning, outfield play and favorite drills, by Don Ruberg (coach of the 1955 Class A champs, Cincinnati Elder).

1 to 3 p. m.—infield play, by Marty Karow and his Ohio State University staff.

3 p. m.—OSU varsity baseball practice.

6:15 p. m.—dinner meeting, including movies of the World Series.

Saturday
9:30 to 11:30 a. m.—pitching. This will be discussed by: Owen Scheetz, former major league pitcher and manager of the Louisville Colonels; Dick Hoover, who tossed a no-hitter against the Columbus Jets last season; and the great Hal Schumacher, former New York Giant southpaw hurler.

1:30 p. m.—OSU intra-squad game.

'Beat Hogan' Chant Being Heard Again

NEW YORK (AP)—The man who turned the professional golf tour into a gold mine came home from Florida today with the report that the "Beat Hogan" chant is back on golf's hit parade.

"The forty-and-over club is in the saddle again," said Fred Corcoran, former tournament director of the Professional Golfers' Assn.,

Sokolsky's These Days

But why fire only the scientists? There are all sorts of surplus baggage attached to every embassy, people who have nothing to do with our foreign relations but live abroad on an expense account and buy their cigars at an embassy PX. Somebody ought to discover how these extra attaches have messed up American foreign relations because it would seem that wherever they are most numerous and spend the most money, the United States is most disliked by the natives.

In England, for instance, where we have an enormous staff and spend money all over the place, we are hardly understood by the populace at all, and I can recall listening to an argument on a street in London, after a political meeting, in the course of which a Communist asked, "Who keeps bases in this country, the U. S. or the U.S.S.R.?" And there was no one to tell him that those bases were there to keep England from being conquered.

So what do we have the attaches there for? What do they do for us? What do they tell the people?

and still an adviser, "and Ben Hogan is the kindest of the lot."

"Jimmy Demaret is playing some of his finest golf. He says he has discovered 'nerve control.' Sam Snead is overweight but hitting the ball as well as he did at 25. And, Lloyd Mangrum has found his old touch."

Corcoran added, however, that he was most impressed with Hogan, who announced after a play-off loss to Jack Fleck in the 1955 National Open that he'd never work for a championship again.

"Ben has been practicing a solid month at the Seminole Club in Palm Beach," Fred said. "People stand around and watch him on the practice tee the way they do Ted Williams when he goes into the batting cage."

Corcoran predicted Hogan would be the "man to beat" in the Masters Tournament at Augusta, beginning April 5.

This Is What District Vets Want To Know

(Veterans who have a question of interest to ex-servicemen should pass it along to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer Jim Shea. His office is in the basement of the courthouse at Circleville.)

Q—I am 58 years old, I am disabled, and unable to work, is there any chance that I would be eligible for a total non-service pension, or must I be 65 to get it?

A—Age itself is not the entire factor necessary for a total non-service connected pension. Although, age is important. The most important factor is being within the income limitation of $2,700 if you have dependents, or $1,400 without dependents. At the age of 55, a veteran must have a single disability ratable at 70 percent, or a combination of disabilities, the major one of which is 40 percent. Veterans over 55 and under 60 must have disabilities which amount to 50 percent, with no requirement as to any one disability. At age 60, a 50 percent rating for one or more disabilities is required, and at age 65 there is no percentage requirement other than one disability ratable at 10 percent or more.

Q—I am receiving a compensation from the VA, and am moving. Is a letter to the VA sufficient to have my checks sent to my new address?

A—No. The VA prefers that official notice, VA Form 527, Notice of change of Address, be sent to them.

Q—Am I going to get a national service life insurance dividend this year?

A—Yes. It will be in the same amount as last year, and will be sent to you at approximately the same time you received it last year.

Q—I have received notice from the VA, to the effect that effective the first of next month that my premiums on my five year level premium term insurance will increase. Will my dividends increase too?

A—No. The law states that your five year level premium term insurance will increase every five years as long as you do not convert to a permanent plan policy. Your dividends are stable. I would suggest that you convert to a permanent plan policy as soon as possible, your dividends will increase at that time.

Q—I want to go to work for an establishment under the Korean GI Bill. How do I go about it?

A—Have the owner or manager of the establishment contact this office. He will be referred to either the State Department of Education, or the Bureau of Apprenticeship Trades, whichever may apply, in order that a training program may be set up. After the program has been set up and approved, we can then make application to the VA for a certificate of eligibility for education and training.

Vic Vet says
AS A GI INSURANCE POLICY-HOLDER, IT'S UP TO YOU TO KEEP VA INFORMED OF THE BENEFICIARIES YOU WANT TO RECEIVE THE PROCEEDS OF YOUR POLICY AND HOW THE MONEY IS TO BE PAID THEM.

Farm And Home Week's Discussions Covered Wide Variety

Ag Specialists Featured At Annual Event

Rural Health, Crop Rotation, Automatic Trends Included

Farm and Home Week programs, held at Ohio State University, touched upon a wide variety of subjects of interest to those who earn their living through agriculture. Many Pickaway County residents attended portions of the annual gathering.

Speakers included farming specialists from all over the state. Included in the points they stressed were the following:

Many of Ohio's rural areas need better public health services, sanitation facilities and water supplies. Schools, home demonstration clubs, farm organizations and 4-H clubs were urged to give closer study to such problems.

Fewer but bigger poultry farms, with more automatic gadgets to save labor, are coming in Ohio. G. S. Vickers, field manager of the Ohio Poultry Improvement Association, said every section of the poultry business is showing signs of this modernization trend.

Mineral content of poultry rations, as measured by the "ash factor", is getting new attention. James K. Bletner told poultrymen that tests with feeding the ash left after poultry rations are burned indicate there are elements in the ash that produce gains in growth. Bletner is an instructor in the OSU poultry department.

Crab grass, that villainous weed that haunts the dreams of every homeowner who struggles to keep a good looking lawn, must be attacked in April. The warning came from E. K. Alban, horticulturist. After April, the battle will be lost for this year, he declared.

Rotation of crops is the foundation upon which all of a farm's business rests, according to Dr. C. J. Willard, professor of agronomy at OSU. The selection of a rotation, he pointed out, determines what can be sold, what livestock can be produced, and whether soil productivity is to go up or down.

Holy Week

THE BETRAYAL—Following the Last Supper, Jesus led His disciples to the garden of Gethsemane. Thrice, while they slept, Jesus prayed, saying, "O my Father, if this cup may not pass away from me, except that I drink it, thy will be done." Waking the disciples, He told them, "Rise, let us be going: behold, he is at hand that doth betray me." As He spoke, Judas Iscariot, who had plotted against Him for 30 pieces of silver, appeared with "a great multitude with swords and staves, from the chief priests and elders of the people. Now he that betrayed Him gave them a sign, saying, Whomsoever shall I kiss, that same is He: hold him fast." As Judas kissed Him, Jesus was seized and led away to the palace of Caiaphas, the high priest, where the scribes and elders were assembled to hear witnesses against Him.

cultural Experiment Station in Wooster have stressed the fact that beef production can be improved by careful attention to breeding methods. Earle W. Klosterman, associate professor in the animal science department at the station, described an experiment in which calves sired by production bred bulls gained faster and more economically in the feed lot than those sired by outbred bulls.

The average farm family may have even fewer farm-earned dollars to spend on family living this year than it had during the last few years. Two OSU extension staff members—Miss Mabel Spray and Riley Dougan—said another slight decline in average net incomes is likely for farmers this year.

Many Ohio dairymen are turning to mechanization in order to combat the increasing costs of labor and to produce a higher milk output per man on the farm. The statement was made by C. D. McGrew, OSU extension dairyman.

Movie Producer Wanger Stricken

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Movie producer Walter Wanger is resting today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital after a slight heart attack. Wanger, 61, was stricken Monday while undergoing an electrocardiogram at the hospital. Dr. Clarence A. Gross said the producer, husband of actress Joan Bennett, will remain in the hospital for two weeks.

Bromfield Estate Goes To Family

MANSFIELD (AP)—The bulk of the estate of the late Louis Bromfield, Pulitzer prize winning author, will go equally to his three daughters according to the will filed here yesterday.

The will left $2,500 to Reba Williams, Bromfield family cook, and $250 each to Emma Byerly and Mae Stotts, household employees. The remainder of the estate will go to the three daughters: Mrs. Robert (Hope) Bromfield Stevens, Mrs. Carson (Ellen) Bromfield Geld and Miss Anne Bromfield.

The estate, including the 700-acre Malabar Farm, will be governed entirely by trustees.

5 Teen-Age Girls Given Prison Terms

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Five teen-age girls charged with slaying a matron in their escape from the Summit County detention home pleaded guilty to manslaughter indictments Monday and were sentenced to 1-20 years.

Common Pleas Judge Ray B. Watters sentenced Ruth Beichler, 17, and Zelda De Cost, 16, to the reformatory for women at Marysville. Three 15-year-olds—Shirley Shingler, Margaret Nicholson and Mirl Cain—were sentenced to the Girls Industrial School at Delaware until they are 16, when they will be transferred to the reformatory.

Mrs. Eula Bonham, the matron, was overpowered by the girls, who stuffed an ammonia-soaked rag in her mouth before escaping from the home last Nov. 27. She was dead when other attendants found her.

All the girls were in custody within 24 hours after their escape. Rejecting a defense plea for mercy, Judge Watters said, "We cannot allow sympathy to interfere with our best judgment."

Some of the girls said they thought the sentences were unfair in interviews at the Summit County jail.

"It wasn't fair," Mirl said. "We are only teen-agers and should have been given another chance."

Margaret said, however, that "we deserved what we got."

ANDREW, FAITHFUL FOLLOWER

Here was the man who was first to affirm, "We have found the Messiah!" In the Master, Andrew found the leader he was looking for. He was quick to register his loyalty and to recruit others in the movement which began in Galilee when Jesus called his disciples that they might be with him. Andrew was first. He was quick to seek out his own brother, Peter, and together they left their nets to follow Jesus.

Andrew moved throughout his lifetime in the shadows of the man mountain Simon, his brother. Andrew never swayed thousands with his eloquence, as Peter did. Andrew worked quietly, undramatically, behind the scenes.

When the others were at a loss as to how to meet the emergency of short rations, it was Andrew who found a boy. The boy did not have much. He brought only five loaves and two fish, hardly enough for a lunch. But he was willing to share. Andrew said quietly, "There is a lad here." And the miracle of gracious unselfishness miraculously multiplied a snack into a love feast.

When the Greeks were drawn into the circle of interest and friendliness, it was Andrew who ushered them into the center. He relayed their courteous request to the inner group, "Sir, we would see Jesus." It is through such quiet and dedicated men that the circle of Christian fellowship is enlarged and strengthened.

Pinballs Get OK

TOLEDO (AP)—A proposal that would have outlawed 1,000 pinball machines was rejected 5-4 by city council yesterday.

Killing 'Justified'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Richard F. Matia, assistant police prosecutor, has ruled that the fatal shooting of 14-year-old Leo Lewis was justifiable. The youth was shot by police as he bolted from a stolen automobile.

'Tresaire' Found

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—Three boys found $1,800 in a treasure chest dug out of an abandoned earthen tank here but neither they nor the internal revenue people are excited. The $1,800 was $1, $5, $50 and $100 Confederate bills.

Ohioan's Bequests To Aid Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—The late Helen Bicknell, president of the Porcelain Products Co. of Findlay, Ohio, left more than $2,800,000 to the Hospital for Special Surgery here. Miss Bicknell, who died May 29, 1955, left gross assets totalling $3,365,846. A tax appraisal yesterday showed she willed a $3,600 annuity, plus $25,000 to Sara E. Burk of Findlay; $100,000 to Bradford, Mass., Junior College; $10,000 to Loomis School in Windsor, Conn., and the balance to the hospital on New York's upper east side.
